4/5 BRAG Week 2.
Making Clay Heads
Each child made their own clay head. The students were learning the process of attaching clay to clay.
Firstly: Scrunched paper into a ball.
2nd: Using hands and fingers to mould a piece of clay from a ball to a flat shape.
3rd: Place clay around the paper to make a shape of a head.
4th: Using more clay, mould pieces for eyes, nose, mouth and ears. We used a garlic press to make hair.
We were very lucky to be the only primary school invited to come along. Every student from Central School was jumping off their seats in excitement waiting for it to start. TV shows were added into the play as well. They mentioned Neighbours and Masterchef. My favourite part of the play was when they were pretending to be on Masterchef and making heaps of vegetable jokes. The play stopped for interval, (but we did not know this). We were very disappointed, (Mrs Hilyard informed us that we were only half way through the play). We were all exited again; we couldn’t wait till it continued. At the end of the show all the characters on stage gave a bow and ran through the audience high fiving everyone. It was so cool. The play was magnificent just performed by Bundy high students. At the end we were all singing and dancing along to the song, clapping our hands and moving our feet. When we got back to school at 10 to 3 we were all so hungry but excited about what we just been to and were pumped and ready for the weekend.

ALADDIN

On 4th of June we all went to the play Aladdin performed by Bundy high students. It was held at the Moncrieff Theatre. The play was so excellent and made everyone laugh even though there were many mistakes, but the characters managed to pull it back together to make it very humorous again. The play was not like how the movie was; it was a comedy version that was spiced up a bit with heaps of jokes and ‘these days’ habits. We were very lucky to be the only primary school invited to come along. Every student from Central School was jumping off their seats in excitement waiting for it to start. TV shows were added into the play as well. They mentioned Neighbours and Masterchef. My favourite part of the play was when they were pretending to be on Masterchef and making heaps of vegetable jokes. The play stopped for interval, (but we did not know this). Bunnings Visit

Planting seeds and learning about sustainability. Learning in the classroom about our earth’s natural resources is one thing but actually contributing to conserve these precious resources and getting our hands dirty in another.

Last Wednesday Year 2/3 and some students from Mrs Cella’s group were invited to go to Bunnings and learn about sustainability with a hands-on experience provided by Bunnings’ Warehouse.

After a short bus ride we were warmly welcomed by Bunnings Team Member Samantha who guided the kids step by step through the importance of our natural resources and what they can do in their community to conserve them. They provided us with punnets, soil and seeds so the children were able to have their own part in preparing the soil and plant a variety of vegetables. These are being cared for in the school and will soon be planted in our garden in front of the Year 2/3 classroom.
